Community council approves plans for two buildings with 50 per cent affordable housing component

Members of the Halifax-West community council gave unanimous approval Tuesday to a development on Gottingen Street, saying the project's focus on affordable housing had to trump concerns about height and density.

"I hate being utilitarian in my outlook on these things ... but we have this need for affordable housing, and in this case, this is the best balance we can achieve right now," said Coun. Wayne Mason after a two-hour public hearing.

The Housing Trust of Nova Scotia has proposed up to 239 units in the two buildings, which are six and nine storeys on Gottingen, rising to eight and 11 storeys on Maitland.

Under an agreement with the province, half the units must be affordably priced, and developer Ross Cantwell said the buildings are as small as they can be to meet that target while remaining financially viable.

"We would love to include more family-sized units in this project.... We're providing as much as we can right now," he said, noting the provincial funding formula allocates $25,000 in building costs per affordable housing unit.

Opponents said the buildings were too tall for the area, and the density, with 83 per cent of the units being one-bedroom or smaller, was unprecedented in HRM.

"There's quite a lot of buildings being built that are small, human scale and not creating shadows and not creating just an overwhelming density," said Purcells Cove resident Andrew Murphy.

All supporters of the project came from the arts community, noting the Housing Trust has committed 25 units to the Performing Arts Lodge project, a Canada-wide organization that provides affordable housing for professional artists.

Teens charged with breaking into vehicles

Three teens are facing charges after Halifax police say multiple cars were broken into early Tuesday morning in Bedford.

Just before 2 a.m., officers responded to Shaffleburg Run after a citizen reported seeing three people breaking into cars in the area.

After some tracking with a K-9 unit, officers arrested a man on Nottingham Street, another on Rocky Lake Drive and a youth at his North Street home in Bedford.

Police say four vehicles were targeted and some of the goods were recovered.

Three males, two 18 and one 16, all from Bedford, were released from custody and will appear in court at a later date. METRO

Missing girls now 'safe and sound'

Halifax police say two girls reported missing in Dartmouth were found safe a few hours after police raised the alarm.

Olivia Dawn Richard, 12, and Brianna Hope Richard, 13, were last seen on Gottingen Street in Halifax on Monday at 4 p.m. after they left a family residence, police said.

They were reported missing 45 minutes later after they didn't return to their home on Pleasant Street in Dartmouth.

Police alerted the public Tuesday at about 4 p.m. Hours later, police said both girls had been found "safe and sound." METRO

Although reports of a man carrying a firearm in Mic Mac Mall on Tuesday turned out to be false, multiple Halifax police officers rushed to the scene where a man was eventually arrested for stealing clothes from the Winners Homesense.

At 12:34 p.m., police received a report of a man walking through the mall carrying a firearm on his belt. Responding officers — and a K-9 unit — located a suspect outside the Homesense store.

Halifax Regional Police Const. Pierre Bourdages said the man was found carrying a small knife in a holder and some stolen clothing, but no firearm.

Bourdages said police

Const. Pierre Bourdages

don't believe there was a threat to the public, and no charges would have been laid if the man had only been carrying the knife because there was no intent to harm.

"It was incidental, really. It was not the purpose," Bourdages said about the arrest.

Bourdages said further investigation revealed no one had actually witnessed a man carrying a gun, and the knife was never removed from the holder.

"Somehow there was miscommunication there," Bourdages said. "That's something we have to look into."

An 18-year-old man is now facing charges of theft under $5,000 and possession of stolen goods under $5,000.

The Homesense store was closed for a short period while officers investigated.

What to doo about Africville Park, a.k.a. 'sacred ground'?

National Historic Site.
Protesters want it to remain off-leash

KRISTEN

Poodles, pugs and pooches of all sizes and sorts gathered outside Halifax City Hall on Tuesday evening, hoping their barks in support of one of their favourite places to roam and run, Africville Park in the city's north end, would be heard.

They were accompanied by their owners, about 30 concerned citizens who came together for a "meet and greet" in the Grand Parade, while inside there was a meeting of Halifax and West Community Council, which requested a staff report on the future of the popular off-leash park, also a national historic site.

"Where is another space that we are allowed to take our dogs?" Jeff Lanthier, his boxer Chloe at his side, asked an Africville Heritage Trust representative walking up city hall steps.

"Let's find another space," former trust director Andrew Murphy responded. "That's a good solution."

Murphy told the doggedly determined citizens Africville is "sacred ground" and not appropriate for animals running around, leaving messes behind. "It's like a graveyard; it's like a memorial."

While the dogs sniffed each other up, their owners held signs such as "Save Our Park," discussing their concerns with Murphy and others entering the Argyle Street building in a civilized manner.

"This is a big city, there's a lot of goodwill to people with dogs, and there's got to be a compromise that can be reached," Murphy told reporters.

Coun. Linda Mosher, who represents Armdale-Peninsula West, said she checked out dog activity at Africville Park and "saw how ... respectful the dogs were, and the owners," of the historically significant site.

"You must have another site that's suitable and mutually agreed upon, before this site is decommissioned," she said. "That's my position."

Fenwick Tower reno scaled back

Fenwick Tower JEFF HARPER/METRO

Developer Joe Metlege is asking the city to approve changes to his plans for the Fenwick Tower property — most significantly a reduction in the planned height and density of the finished product.

In a letter to the city, Metlege outlines the requested amendments to the development agreement approved in 2010 and amended in 2012.

The amendments include a reduction in the height and footprint of the existing tower.

"Through design re-work, the Tower will retain much of its existing shape, while being re-clad with a modern glass and metal exterior," reads the letter of intent.

A 35-storey extension has been eliminated and replaced by a four-storey stand-alone building containing 23 one-bedroom unit.

The number of residential units has fallen from 504 to 445, and the commercial space square footage has been more than halved, to 40,090 square feet.

The letter states that 50 per cent of the residential units on the site will be two-bedroom, "promoting families in the development," but most will be in the tower as opposed to the low-rise building or townhouses.

A public information meeting on the proposed changes will be held June 26 at 7 p.m. at the Westin Nova Scotian.

The YMCA of Greater Halifax/Dartmouth has picked Southwest Properties and Streamliner Properties Fund LP to develop their new building in downtown Halifax after a "comprehensive and competitive selection process."

On Tuesday, YMCA president Bette Watson-Borg said the group was "extremely thrilled" to announce the partnership for the future Centre of Community on the corner of South Park and Sackville streets.

"We feel a great responsibility to do an incredible job for the Y, and also on this important corner," said Southwest CEO Jim Spatz about the location across from the Public Gardens and Citadel Hill.

Spatz said he is hoping the proposed 70,000-square-foot project will be a "stand-out, landmark development."

important Canadian sites."

The proposed site will have two mixed-use towers including the YMCA, retail space and rental units, while Spatz said one of the towers will likely be completely condos.

Spatz said they hope to start construction in 2015, but the date is a "moving target" since the CBC will still be occupying the space as property owners.

Watson-Borg said the developers were chosen after a "comprehensive and competitive selection process" over the last number of years.

She said the "legacy" project is expected to be completed in late 2017 or early 2018, but the timeline depends on "different moving parts" to make the site available for the developer.

John Lindsay, longtime YMCA volunteer, said they are going to wait on releasing the full price tag until the total costs are determined.

Proposed facilities

The new YMCA proposal includes a community kitchen, hydrotherapy pool, swimming pool, gym, indoor track, public atrium and child-care facilities.

Lindsay said they should be "completely in line" with pricing for other YMCA projects across Canada.

Federal government approves Northern Gateway pipeline plan

$7B proposal. Despite conditional go-ahead from Ottawa, opponents vow project will never see the light of day

The federal government is giving a conditional green light to Enbridge's controversial $7-billion Northern Gateway pipeline project between the Alberta oilsands and the B.C. coast.

A joint federal review panel recommended approval of the 1,177-kilometre pipeline in December, with 209 conditions; the Conservative government has made it clear that finding new markets for Canadian oil is an economic priority.

Within minutes of the announcement, opponents of the project vowed that the pipeline will never see the light of day despite the nod from Ottawa.

"First Nations will immediately go to court to vigorously pursue all lawful means to stop the Enbridge project," said a statement issued by a coalition of B.C. aboriginal groups.

The statement was signed by 28 individual bands and the three main aboriginal organizations in the province: the B.C. Assembly of First Nations, the First Nations Summit and the Union of B.C. Indian Chiefs.

"This project, and the federal process to approve it, violated our rights and our laws. We are uniting to defend our lands and waters of our respective territories," they said.

They said the majority of British Columbians oppose the project, which they said poses an "unacceptable risk" to the environment and health of all people in the province.

"We will defend our territories whatever the costs may be," the statement said.

The decision already faces legal challenges. Several First Nations and environmental groups have filed applications broader lawsuits against the federal government and/or the company, over aboriginal rights.

face" for British Columbians.

Toronto waits to see if Ford returns a changed man

Toronto Mayor Rob Ford launches his re-election campaign at the Toronto Congress Centre in Toronto on April 17. STEVE RUSSELL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE FILE

Only time will tell whether Rob Ford's stint in rehab has changed him, some of the Toronto mayor's colleagues said Tuesday, just weeks before his scheduled return to city hall.

Ford plans to come back on June 30, according to a letter he sent to the city clerk's office.

The letter says he will return to resume his duties "in the later portion of the afternoon" and asks that his office locks be changed back by 1 p.m.

"I'm hoping that he really seriously applied himself at rehab and he will come back a very changed person," Coun. Paula Fletcher said.

She said city hall has been

"calm and scandal-free" in the mayor's absence, a sentiment echoed by other councillors.

"Ever since his departure ... things have been very calm, there's a lot of business being conducted, there's a level of civility I believe has re-entered city hall," Coun. Kristyn Wong-Tam said. "It clearly demonstrates to me that when he's here, he's a distraction."

Coun. Janet Davis said it's impossible to know what to expect from Ford.

"I don't want to predict how Rob Ford will behave. I don't think anybody's ever been able to do that," she said. 680NEWS/THE CANADIAN PRESS

One five-year-old killed. Rare twin tornadoes send another 19 to hospital

A storm packing rare dual tornadoes tore through a tiny farming town in northeast Nebraska, killing a 5-year-old child, leaving grain bins crumpled like discarded soda cans and flattening dozens of homes.

Stanton County Sheriff Mike Unger estimated that 50 to 75 per cent of Pilger, Neb., was heavily damaged or destroyed in the storm. The local school is likely beyond repair, he said.

"It's total devastation," Unger said.

The storm was part of a larger system that started to track across the U.S. midsection Monday afternoon. More stormy weather was forecast Tuesday in an area stretching from eastern Montana to New York. The Storm Prediction Center in Norman, Oklahoma, said powerful winds, large hail and a few tornadoes are possibly, particularly in Iowa, Wisconsin and northern Illinois.

Is sodium reduction plan worth its salt?

A pinch of skepticism. Some are questioning the effectiveness of the FDA's forthcoming voluntary guidelines to reducing salt in food

Food companies and restaurants in America could soon face government pressure to make their foods less salty — a long-awaited federal effort in the U.S. to try to prevent thousands of deaths each year from heart disease and stroke.

The Food and Drug Administration is preparing voluntary guidelines asking the food industry to lower sodium levels, FDA commissioner Margaret Hamburg told The Associated Press. Hamburg said in a recent interview that the sodium is “of huge interest and concern” to the agency.

It's still unclear when the FDA will release the guidelines, despite its 2013 goal to have them completed this year.

Hamburg said she hoped the agency would be able to publicly discuss the issue “relatively soon.” On Tuesday, FDA spokeswoman Erica Jefferson said there is no set timeline for their release.

Health groups would prefer mandatory standards, but say voluntary guidelines are a good first step.

Still, Michael Jacobson of the Center for Science in the Public Interest says he is concerned companies may hesitate, worried that their competitors won't lower sodium in their products.

Hold the salt

Most sodium not from table salt shaker

Americans eat about one and a half teaspoons of salt daily, about a third more than the government recommends, and enough to increase the risk of high blood pressure, strokes and other problems. Most of that sodium is hidden inside common processed foods and restaurant meals.

Here are some of the saltiest foods, based on 2010 data from the Agriculture Department:

BURGERS AND SANDWICHES: PROVIDE 21 PER CENT OF AMERICANS' TOTAL SODIUM INTAKE

RICE, PASTA AND GRAIN DISHES: SEVEN PER CENT

PIZZA: SIX PER CENT

MEAT, POULTRY AND SEAFOOD DISHES: SIX PER CENT

DAIRY: FIVE PER CENT

Retailers to do the math for you

New York's attorney general said Tuesday Costco, CVS, FreshDirect, Walmart and Walgreen have agreed to list unit prices on their websites and mobile apps for shoppers across the U.S.

A unit price tells consumers how much a product costs by each unit of weight. For example, a 16-ounce bottle of shampoo costing $5.99 US would have a unit price of 37 cents per ounce.

THE MYSTERY OF (NOT-SO) YOUNG ADULT LIT

Guilty — that's me — of reading Young Adult novels instead of the latest literary fiction by the latest literary lion or lioness.

I devoured Harry Potter, The Golden Compass, even Hunger Games (although I admit it got a little tedious by Volume Three), while nibbling demurely at some prize-winning tome in which generations of people where it snows a lot have been artistically victimizing each for ... generations.

Don't get me wrong. As a card-carrying English graduate, I fervently support the production of literature. I'm just having a tough time getting through it. And I'm not alone.

The Harry Potter series has sold 450 million copies to date, never mind the movies. Most literary novels are borrowed from libraries and returned, often unread.

This last weekend, The Fault in Our Stars, a movie based on a book about two teenagers in love while both are dying of cancer, outgrossed everything else Hollywood threw at us, including

JUST SAYIN'

Paul Sullivan
metronews.ca

Edge of Tomorrow, the latest Tom Cruise misadventure in advanced ordnance ($66 million US versus $40.5 million). Kids, do you know where your parents are?

In a Publisher's Weekly study cited in a CBC story, 55 per cent of Young Adult books are bought by adults, 78 per cent for their own enjoyment. (Of course, the other 22 per cent could be lying. "I'm just buying this for my daughter!")

Is this predilection for Young Adult fiction evidence of a mass dumbing down or an epidemic of ADD? Well, probably. But I think there's more going on. Yes, Young Adult novels are easier to read. Yes, they usually end in a happy, or at least a satisfactory, ending.

Is that so wrong? It may have something to do with "plot." Say what you will about Harry Potter and his Hogwarts homies, the entire series is driven by an intertwining network of fiendishly entertaining plotlines that keep everyone on tenterhooks until the end of volume eight. Author J.K. Rowling tried her hand at literary fiction with The Casual Vacancy, but Potter fans held their breath and tapped their feet until she came up with The Cuckoo's Calling, a detective thriller she tried to write under a pseudonym. Of course, she was almost instantly unmasked. "Cuckoo" displays all the page-turning virtues of the Potter series, but it's allegedly written for grownups.

Speaking of plot, A Song of Ice and Fire, the series of books upon which Game of Thrones, the most popular HBO cable series ever, is based, so far features five exquisitely plotted volumes. It also features more sex, incest, gore, betrayal and terror than a Quentin Tarantino grindhouse tribute, so it's definitely not for kids, although with today's kids, you never know.

So you can put this shameful fascination with Young Adult and fantasy fiction down to a worldwide failure to launch — or maybe a driving plot is the missing ingredient in more-heralded fare. I wish we could ask Charles Dickens, the master of great literature featuring great plots.

But he died, alas, without finishing The Mystery of Edwin Drood.

AMIT AND NAROOP

What was the inspiration behind your project?
The idea actually came from how beards are now trendy in fashion and mainstream culture. We felt it was pretty interesting to look at it from Sikhism, where the beard — a symbol of discipline and spirituality — has been an integral part of a man's identity for hundreds of years.

Having a beard has gone mainstream. Any hope for the turban? It would be amazing if it did. Young Sikh men are starting to tie their turbans with elaborate cloth, so it's an extension of their style. But I doubt right now that this will catch on with non-Sikhs.

Have British Sikh men always been expressive with their dress sense? The Sikh men we profiled are doctors, watchmakers, designers and architects, and they all take great pride in wearing a turban and beard. But some of the older Sikh men we interviewed described how they had to cut their hair when they first came to England just to be accepted so they could get a job. At the other end, lots of the younger men have embraced the tenets of Sikhism, grown their hair, and left behind their previous false pleasures like drinking, smoking or getting themselves into trouble.

Some films hit all the right notes

Rock 'n' roll reels. Jersey Boys is just the latest film inspired by music's best and brightest

IN FOCUS
Richard Crouse
scene@metronews.ca

Rock 'n' roll and the movies have always had an uneasy relationship. For every film that hits all the right notes, like Quadrophenia or A Hard Day's Night, there's a host of tone-deaf films like Light of Day, featuring Michael J. Fox and Joan Jett as musical siblings, or Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band, a glam-rock-and-disco re-imagining of the Beatles classic.

Rock 'n' roll biographies are equally hit-and-miss. In The Buddy Holly Story, the toothy Gary Busey earned an Academy Award nomination for his portrayal of the rock legend, but Roger Ebert sneered that Dennis Quaid played Jerry Lee Lewis in Great Balls of Fire "as a grinning simpleton with a crazy streak."

This weekend, Jersey Boys — directed by Clint Eastwood, and based on the Tony Award-winning musical — tells the story of '60s hitmakers The Four Seasons. Songs like Big Girls Don't Cry, Walk Like a Man and Can't Take My Eyes Off You made them one of the biggest-selling rock acts of all time.

Lesser known than the Four Seasons but louder, faster and dirtier were The Runaways, the subject of a ram-bunctious 2010 movie.

Set back when you could still drink a bottle of stolen

Jersey Boys hits theatres June 20. CONTRIBUTED

John Lloyd Young

Riding in cars with Jersey Boys

John Lloyd Young, who won a Tony for his performance of Frankie Valli on Broadway, plays the singer in the big-screen adaptation of Jersey Boys.

Teamed with Tommy DeVito (Vincent Piazza) and Nick Massi (Michael Lomenda), Valli rose from the streets to the studio — and with the addition of songwriter and keyboardist

Bob Gaudio (Erich Bergen), from clubs to concert halls as the Four Seasons, one of the top-selling acts in rock history.

Young, Lomenda and Piazza bonded on the third day of the shoot. "We were shooting a scene where we were in the middle of the desert and our car breaks down," Young says. "We end up having to hitch a ride with a farmer and the back of the truck is filled with pigs. The three of us guys were actually in the back of this truck with a bunch of pigs, doing take after take, and every time the truck started it was like a lesson in pig excretory systems.

"It was a sequence that's been cut from the movie," he says. "But it proved to be a real bonding experience for us."

booze in the shade of the Hollywood sign without being arrested for trespassing, The Runaways focuses on two glue-sniffing, glam-rock-obsessed tough girls named Joan Jett (Kristen Stewart) and Cherie Currie (Dakota Fanning) who formed the underage all-girl band. The music of The Runaways was described as the "sound of hormones raging," and this film captures that, transcending the formulaic aspects of the story by catching the gritty spirit of in-your-face teenage rebellion.

I'm Not There is a hard movie to describe. It's a metaphoric retelling of Bob Dylan's life, but none of the characters in it are called Bob Dylan. Most of them don't look like Dylan, and the one who most looks like Dylan is a woman. Unlike Walk the Line or Ray, which were both standard-issue Hollywood biopics, there is nothing linear here, but then there is nothing straightforward about the man, so there should be nothing straightforward about the movie.

Sex & Drugs & Rock & Roll is the title of eccentric English singer Ian Dury's biggest hit and the 2010 biopic about his eventful life. Starring Andy Serkis, the film is as high voltage as one of Dury's legendary live performances.

Finally, the film Control details the short life of Joy Division singer Ian Curtis (Sam Riley). After seeing the film at Cannes, Curtis's bass player Peter Hook said he knew the movie "would be very well received because, even though it's two hours long, only two people went to the toilet the whole time. In fact, one of them was (Joy Division founding member) Bernard (Sumner). The other one was a 70-year-old woman."

Ryan Gosling isn't looking to adopt, as cute as that sounds

Not so fast, Facebook. Nearly one million readers were taken in recently by a bogus story about Ryan Gosling trying to adopt a baby.

An unverified account posted a photo of Gosling laughing with a baby along with a lengthy explanation purportedly written by the Drive star recounting how he'd tried to get custody of an infant because the mother had wanted him to after she died of cancer.

"One year later after the adoption, his biological father wanted him. Of course, I put up a fight, but he won," the post stated. "We have to stop and be thankful for our children and children should stop and be thankful for their parents. What I truly learned most of all is, every child needs love. Save thousands of children and meet me while doing it."

The post included a link to buy limited edition T-shirts and a chance to win a date with Gosling, all in exchange for donations to the Orphanage Home Foundation, which

Jason Segel's junk made his mom cry

MELINDA TAUB

Metro World News

Jason Segel's nude scene in Forgetting Sarah Marshall was big news even before the movie came out. Film buffs knew that by purchasing a ticket to the movie, they were also getting a ticket to Segel parading his junk around.

However, one viewer was caught entirely by surprise: Segel's mom.

Jason Segel wrote Forgetting Sarah Marshall in addition to starring in it, so Mrs. Segel had no one to blame but her own son. That did little to take the edge off the traumatic experience. Segel tells Vanity Fair that the famous nude scene made his mom cry.

After she'd recovered from the initial shock, Mrs. Segel decided to make sure others did not go into the experience as unprepared as she had. She sent out a mass email to friends and family that read, "I would like to inform you all that Jason has chosen to do a full-frontal nudity; however, it is not gratuitous and is essential to the plot."

Robert Pattinson

Pattinson says he's not headed to a galaxy far, far away any time soon

Robert Pattinson wants to make it very, very clear that he will not be inheriting any iconic roles made famous by Harrison Ford anytime soon.

Separate online rumours had the Twilight star tapped to play Indiana Jones in a series reboot and Han Solo in a stand-alone Star Wars spinoff, but Pattinson himself doesn't know where these stories are coming from, according to Us

Weekly. "Why is that coming out? I honestly don't understand what it's all about. Man, I wish," he says in response to the Indiana Jones idea. "It's like all those other B.S. rumours."

As for visiting a galaxy far, far away? "I didn't even know there was a Han Solo spinoff coming out," he says. "Sounds like a cool spinoff. I'll watch it!"

Pittsburgh may register as a gritty steel-town in your consciousness, but it's also home to some pretty great art

While Pittsburgh is best known for its steel-town roots, today the blue-collar city taps into its innovative past by providing inspiration to art lovers.

I start my art crawl a short hop, skip and jump from my plush bed at the Fairmont Pittsburgh. The property invites guests to take a walk back in time to explore over 26,000 artifacts recovered from the 2007 excavation of Three PNC Plaza. Objects on display in the hotel's public spaces date from 1840 to 1872, offering visitors a glimpse into what life would have been like here in the mid-1800s. Marvel over antique glass bottles, gilded decorative accessories from France, botanical prints and tiles and cute Kestner dolls.

The Carnegie Museum of Art was made possible by the generous support of Andrew Carnegie, the industrialist who invested his steel-town success in the arts. While most art museums founded at the turn of the last century focused on collections of well-known masters, Carnegie envisioned his museum collection would consist of the "Old Masters of tomorrow." In 1896, he initiated a series of exhibitions of contemporary art and proposed that the museum's paintings collection be formed through purchases from this series. Carnegie, thereby, founded what is arguably the first museum of modern art in the United States, which at the time featured Winslow Homer, James McNeill Whistler, and Camille Pissarro.

Today's collection is distinguished in American art from the mid-19th century to the present, in French Impressionist and post-Impressionist paintings, and in significant late 20th-century works.

Local celebrity Andy Warhol's groundbreaking work has crowned Pittsburgh as the world headquarters for Pop Art. The city's not-to-be-missed Andy Warhol Museum is the most comprehensive single-artist museum in the world, offering exhibitions year-round and displaying never-before-seen artworks from a collection that includes 900 paintings, 100 sculptures, nearly 2,000 works on paper, more than 1,000 published and unique prints, and 4,000 photographs.

Visitors to the museum indulge in a whimsical chronicle of the oddball artist's life, highlights which include childhood sketches, quirky collection of travel paraphernalia, Polaroid portraits of American icons (Liza Minnelli, Diana Vreeland, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Mick Jagger) and an evolution from wildly successful commercial illustrator to pop art superstar.

The Mattress Factory offers the world's most famous installation art experience. Since 1982, the groundbreaking museum has presented new works by more than 600 artists working in residence. The organization is dedicated to providing artists with the space, materials, assistance and freedom to explore new ideas and create works of art that help us see the world in fresh new ways.

Turkey Bacon Sandwich

This is a new favourite! It is simple to put together, and even easier to eat. Cook the bacon while your bread is in the toaster, and slice up the tomato. With a splash of balsamic vinegar, the flavour sings out to be made a regular dinner routine.

Ingredients

Turkey Bacon Sandwich

- 1 slice turkey bacon
- 1 slice whole wheat bread
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) chickpea hummus
- 2 thick slices fresh tomato
- Drizzle of aged balsamic vinegar
- Pinch fresh ground pepper

Mini Hamburgers

- 1 egg
- 2 tbsp (30 ml) ketchup
- 1 small onion, grated
- 1/3 cup (75 ml) whole wheat fresh bread crumbs
- 1/2 tsp (2 ml) dried oregano
- Pinch pepper
- 8 oz (227 g) extra lean ground turkey or chicken
- 8 oz (227 g) extra lean ground beef
- 15 slider mini burger buns

This recipe makes one serving but can be easily doubled. EMILY RICHARDS

This recipe makes 15 mini burgers. EMILY RICHARDS

1. Place bacon on paper towel-lined plate and microwave on high for 20 seconds or until it is hot.

2. Meanwhile, toast bread. Spread hummus on toast, and top with bacon and tomato.

Drizzle with vinegar and sprinkle with pepper.

Mini Hamburgers

My kids couldn't stop eating these, and neither could the adults! They're perfect for small hands to enjoy for dinner or tuck into pita halves with lettuce for dinner on the run. You can serve them open face with lettuce and tomatoes for a new twist to dinner.

1. In bowl, stir egg and ketchup. Stir in onion, bread crumbs, oregano and pepper. Add chicken and beef and using hands mix together until well combined. Using scant 1/4 cup (60 ml) of mix, make small burger. Repeat with remaining mix.

2. Place the mini hamburgers on a greased grill over medium-high heat and grill for about 10 minutes, turning once or until no longer pink inside — or until internal temperature of 70 C (160 F) is reached. Place the mini burgers in buns to serve.

What not to do: the resumé edition

Polish off that paper. Make sure that your CV is up to par and won't see the recycling bin

LAUREN MARINIGH
TalentEgg.ca

Your resumé is quite possibly one of the most important documents saved on your computer. Why? A resumé is the key ingredient to helping land your dream job. Here are some things to avoid when you're putting together a resumé.

Missing the specifics

Don't leave an employer guessing. Your resumé is supposed

No employer wants to read a novel about you, no matter how relevant your past experience may be. ISTOCK to indicate that you're a good fit for a position, so it must include any relevant information.

Briefly identify the overall function of your role before focusing on specific tasks and accomplishments that connect your skills to the job opportunity at hand. Avoid broad statements that don't communicate specific information.

Don't rely on a job title to catch an employer's eye. While previous experience in a similar role is an obvious asset, employee responsibilities can differ substantially between different workplaces.

Leaving out experience

If you're looking for a first professional role or are switching industries, you'll need to rely on a variety of work experiences to position yourself as a compelling new hire.

Don't assume that past work experience in a different field isn't relevant to a position in your industry of choice. If you have limited experience, you need to use every piece to your advantage.

Many skills from other jobs can be transferable. For example, customer service experience can be a great asset in many other career fields.

As you build your resumé, you won't need to use every piece of work experience you have when applying for a new job, but you'll still want to present yourself as a well-rounded candidate.

Going overboard

A resumé should never exceed two pages — and if it is kept to one page, that's even better.

Resumés are meant to showcase your experience and accomplishments, and although many applicants can talk for days about their background and job experience, it is important to keep a resumé short and to the point.

Depending on the role you're applying for, you may want to use a completely different format for your resumé, removing or including sections based on the information you want to present.

Mismatching an objective

Not all resumés include an objective. Make sure that you're only using one if it's a good fit for the opportunity that you're pursuing.

It's a common mistake to use the same objective for every application, or to use one that is too broad — for example: "I am seeking full-time employment."

An objective should be directly related to the job you are applying for, and should change with every single one of your job applications.

Note that including an objective is an often-debated topic. If you are having trouble writing one, it's safer not to include one at all.

Toronto 3-1 Tuesday night for their 14th straight home win over the Blue Jays.

That was the first time Tanaka could remember getting tagged so quickly and said it "threw me off my rhythm a little bit."

"Overall, I think my stuff wasn't really there," he said through a translator.

Even so, Tanaka (11-1) struck out 10 in six innings and left with an AL-best 1.99 ERA. The right-hander has made 14 starts this season — he's gone at least six innings in every outing and never permitted more than three earned runs.

"What he's done is remarkable," Yankees manager Joe Girardi said. "He wins."

Brett Gardner hit a two-run homer off the right-field foul pole and the Yankees sent the AL East leaders to their seventh loss in 10 games.

Tanaka made his big-league debut April 4 at Toronto and Melky Cabrera hit a leadoff home run on the third pitch.

Reyes provided an even faster start with a drive into the lower deck in right, and slapped his hands as he rounded first.

After Reyes, Tanaka never allowed a runner past second.

Tanaka gave up five hits and walked two in moving ahead of Toronto's Mark Buehrle for the most wins in the majors. Buehrle starts Wednesday night at Yankee Stadium in the middle game of the three-game series. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cheryl Bernard announced her retirement from competitive curling on Tuesday.

She made four appearances at the Canadian championships and won a silver medal at the 2010 Vancouver Games with third Susan O'Connor, second Carolyn McRorie, lead Cori Morris and alternate Kristie Moore.

"To retire from the game I absolutely love is one of the toughest decisions of my life," Bernard said in a statement. "But it's time to be satisfied with what I have accomplished in the sport and walk away with some amazing memories and incredible relationships."

LeBron not ready to make future plans

LeBron James will take some time to move past the Heat's NBA Finals loss to the Spurs. TONY GUTIERREZ/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LeBron James is leaving.

For a family vacation, that is.

The Miami Heat star said that's his first order of business, and during the time away from basketball he'll start the process of moving past this season and looking toward the future.

"I just want to win. That's all that matters to me," James said Tuesday after emerging from the final team meeting, one where coach Erik Spoelstra urged his team take plenty of pride from the season, even though the end result was an NBA Finals loss to San Antonio. "I haven't even begun to even think about what my future holds or what I have in store. I will sit down with my team at some point, my family as well. Today definitely wasn't the day.

Are they in or out?

LeBron James, Dwyane Wade and Chris Bosh can all become free agents, though none have made decisions on whether they'll opt out of their current deals.

"If my family is happy, then I'm happy and able to perform at a high level."

If so, then they've been happy during his first four years in Miami: James has been to the NBA Finals all four seasons in which he's played for the Heat, capturing two championships, and no one in the league over that span has logged more minutes, made more field goals or won more games than the four-time MVP.

Mexican keeper's star shines bright in draw

Brazil, Mexico held scoreless. Host's scoring chances repeatedly stopped by Ochoa

He was called a hero and a saviour by his Mexican teammates. His Brazilian opponents said he produced miracles.

There is no doubt that Mexico goalkeeper Guillermo Ochoa was the one responsible for spoiling Brazil's hopes of another World Cup victory at its home tournament.

Ochoa made a series of outstanding saves to help his side hold Brazil to a thrilling 0-0 draw on Tuesday.

The result left both teams with four points each after two games in Group A, but Brazil is ahead on goal difference going into their decisive final matches. Croatia and Cameroon meet on Wednesday for their second games after both opened with defeats.

"We can't avoid talking about their goalkeeper," Brazil striker Fred said. "He came up with at least four miracles."

Ochoa's first remarkable save prevented Neymar from scoring in the 26th minute. The Brazil striker's powerful header looked set to fly just inside the post when the goalkeeper dived to his right to push the ball wide.

Ochoa also made three other difficult saves to keep the hosts from breaking the deadlock — a shot by Paulinho in the 44th, a second-half effort by Neymar from inside the area and a close-range header by Thiago Silva in the 86th minute that produced a remarkable block by the Mexican goalkeeper.

"It was the match of my life," said Ochoa, who was visibly moved after the match. "To do it in a World Cup, in front of all the fans, it's incredible."

Mexico captain Rafael Marquez said Ochoa was the "saviour" and coach Miguel Herrera called him the "hero" of the match.

"He did what we expected him to do, he came up with extraordinary saves," Herrera said. "I can't remember another Mexican goalkeeper doing such a great job in the World Cup."

A win by either team would have guaranteed a spot in the next round if Cameroon and Croatia were to draw in the jungle city of Manaus.

"In the end, the 0-0 mirrors what happened, it was a very hard-fought match," Brazil coach Luiz Felipe Scolari said.

Alexander Kerzhakov scored with one of his first touches after coming on as a substitute to earn Russia a 1-1 draw with South Korea on Tuesday in a World Cup match marked by the first big goalkeeping error of the tournament.

Russia goalkeeper Igor Akinfeev spilled Lee Keun-ho's speculative shot into his own net to gift South Korea a 68th-minute lead at the Arena Pantanal in Cuiaba in Group H. But Kerzhakov bailed his

Upset thwarted

Bench leads Belgium to comeback victory

Waiting and waiting for an equalizer, the tension showed on the faces of the Belgium players as the second half wore on in the country's first World Cup match in 12 years.

Algeria was on the verge of a major upset in their Group H opener Tuesday, taking the lead through a penalty in the 25th minute. Try as they might, Belgium's attacking players just couldn't break down Algeria's defence.

In the end, it was the Belgian bench that found the way, with substitutes scoring twice for a 2-1 comeback win.

"We tired them down. We just tired them down," Belgium coach Marc Wilmots said. "I told them, 'Don't worry, we will score.'"

Algeria's surprising lead stood for 45 minutes until Marouane Fellaini's strong glancing header, with his back to goal, from a Kevin De Bruyne cross in the 70th.

Dries Mertens' right-foot strike beat Algeria's goalkeeper high in the 80th.

Support for both sides

Police investigate gunshot-like sound

Brazilian authorities are investigating whether a gunshot was fired near a hotel where the Honduran national soccer team arrived to stay a few hours later, police said Tuesday.

A police officer, who spoke on condition of anonymity because he wasn't authorized to talk to the press, in the town of Porto Feliz in Sao Paulo state said it's unclear if the sound heard in front of the hotel was an actual gunshot, fireworks or even a car backfiring.

He said no spent cartridge was found in the street and neither the Transamerica Hotel nor nearby buildings showed signs of being hit by a bullet. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

- Engines (hp). 3.6-litre V6 (285)
- Transmissions. Six-speed manual, 5-speed automatic
- Base price (incl. destination). $23,195

Market position

- Two-door Wrangler is the purest successor to the original 1941 Jeep.
- Sport 4X4 is the least expensive Wrangler, appealing to both budget-strapped adventurers, and serious off-roaders, the latter using it as a base to which they will add all manner of personal-preference upgrades and touches.

Points

- Powerful V6 engine for its size.
- Only vehicle that encourages you, and makes it (relatively) easy for you, to take off the doors and windshield.
- Heavy-duty part-time 4X4 means you engage it only when you need it
- Acceptable road manners, considering its off-road prioritized components and design.

The Jeep Wrangler boasts that classic Jeep appearance.

- Inside is tight, and features lots of right angles.

Review.

A modern model with the essence of the 1941 Jeep, a bit cramped but off-road ready

drive@metronews.ca

Like its famous predecessors, the 2014 Jeep Wrangler Sport 4X4 has more right angles than an aluminum garden shed, and tight accommodations for anything more than two adults and their duffle bags. For the record, it seats five, but I'm thinking the rear-seat people have to be well acquainted.

But that's what you get when you're careful about not diluting the essence of that original Jeep, created in 1941 and made famous during the Second World War, and afterwards, as the world's first off-road vehicle.

The square and flat sheet metal ensures its appearance is true to those classic Jeeps, and the equipment and design is still prioritized for off-road use.

At this juncture in its long lifespan, however, a lot of people are buying this Jeep for use in the urban jungle, because of its cool factor and distinctive features. That's how I chose to spend my time with this particular test vehicle — on missions to the inner city.

With one notable caveat, the two-door Jeep Wrangler is a surprisingly capable tool for negotiating such terrain. It's got the tall-in-the-saddle view as afforded by all SUVs, a super-tight turning radius, and its shortness is great for parking and jockeying for position on congested streets.

It's got standout looks, and its fun factor, which is high to start with, can be upped by removing the soft top, and/or even the doors.

Wrangler also features a very modern powertrain — the gutsy 3.6-litre V6 with 24 valves and variable valve technology, mated to either a six-speed manual or five-speed automatic transmission.

Our "Sport" trim tester had the standard six-speed manual. At $23,195 (including destination charges) it's the least expensive Jeep Wrangler on offer, and features a satisfying blend of "just the basics," including roll-up windows, "wash out" interior, and of course, the part-time 4X4 system, with a transfer case that enables you to select 2WD High, 4WD High, or 4WD Low (the latter for going up trees and things).

The big caveat to using this interesting device on city streets is a choppy ride and lots of body action, courtesy of those heavy and "live" front and rear axles, the small wheelbase, and the high centre of gravity. But this edition of the Wrangler is quite modern.

The future of driving safety is happening now

Advanced features.

Once reserved for luxury cars, high-tech safety systems are becoming more mainstream than ever

drive@metronews.ca

Vehicular self-awareness was once the stuff of science fiction TV shows and movies — but today, more vehicles than ever are shipping with safety features powered by camera and radar technology that lets cars, crossovers and trucks continually see, analyze and monitor their surroundings for signs of hazards.

As the technology required to drive these advanced safety systems becomes less expensive, more and more affordable cars than ever are offering them up to Canadian shoppers. Once reserved exclusively for high-dollar luxury flagships, you'll find some of the auto industry's latest outward-looking safety technologies on your next affordable ride.

Here's a closer look at some of the most quickly spreading hazard-detection systems.

Blind Spot Monitoring (BSM): Using radar or a camera integrated within the vehicle's body, BSM can warn the driver of unseen vehicles in their blind spot. If a potentially unseen vehicle is detected, a visual warning on the rear-view mirrors is activated as a notice to double-check before changing lanes. If drivers ignore the warning and signal a lane change, an audible chime or flashing light provides further identification of the hazard. In certain situations, this system could prevent a serious accident.

Rear Cross Path Detection: This hazard detection system blasts radar from the rear corners of the vehicle down the laneway or road. Drivers are reversing into, in search of approaching traffic that the driver may not see. Especially handy when reversing out past a building, snowbank or other obstacle, the system can alert drivers that another vehicle is approaching, and the direction it's coming from, so they can take corrective action.

Moving Object Detection (MOD): Advancing on the standard backup camera system found in many vehicles, MOD actively scans the camera image for signs of movement as drivers back up. Should a moving object cross the vehicle's path in reverse, a warning can be sounded, possibly followed by automatic braking to prevent an impact.

Lane Departure Warning: A camera, typically mounted to the inside of the windshield, powers this hazard-detection system which constantly analyzes the position of the vehicle relative to the lane markings on the road. Using information collected by this camera, the Lane Departure Warning system recognizes when the vehicle leaves its lane without turn signal activation, and sounds an alarm as a warning for drivers to get back into their lane. Some models can even automatically steer the vehicle back towards the centre of their lane.

Pre-Collision System: Utilizing forward-facing radar or cameras in the front of the model in question, your next ride may actively “watch” the area ahead of it while you drive, seeking out signs of trouble. A Pre-Collision system constantly observes your vehicle’s speed, the distance to the next vehicle in traffic, and several other factors to calculate the likelihood of a collision. If the risk of a collision is high, the system can alert the driver with audible or visual warnings, or even pre-charge the braking system and tighten vehicle seatbelts ahead of an impact.

Shift: Saving the earth with by powering Audi sports cars and Volkswagens with electricity

Honda's small-vehicle "gateway" opens wider

Not to be confused with the now-defunct Chevrolet HHR small delivery van/wagon, Honda's upcoming all-new HR-V compact tall wagon will further grow the Japanese automaker's selection of small, efficient vehicles. Built on Honda's new Celaya, Mexico, flexible assembly line alongside the Fit small wagon, both vehicles demonstrate that "good things come in small packages," said Honda Canada official Dave Gardner. The HR-V creates a new market segment that, together with the Fit, provides a "gateway" to the Honda brand for first-time new vehicle buyers, and long-time brand loyalists. Despite its compact size, Honda credits its "spacious interior" to a uniquely designed new centre fuel tank layout. Further details about the HR-V will be announced closer to its planned end-of-year launch date.

Test-bed Audi R8 e-tron "a go" for production

Audi will build the once-cancelled R8 e-tron all-electric sports car, and says the new car will have an optimum 400-kilometre range from its fully charged battery, more than twice the distance the original R8 e-tron could travel on a single charge. In fact, the automaker also confirmed it was the improved battery technology that convinced it to recommit to building the R8 e-tron. But there's a hitch that might call into question for some consumers Audi's commitment to electric technology: The car will only be manufactured "upon customer request," reports car news website Motor Authority. Audi, however, says it will use the car as a test bed to develop electric drivetrains for its more affordable, higher-production models.

Shift points

- Volkswagen plans to put tens of thousands, perhaps even hundreds of thousands, of electric vehicles on Chinese roads before the end of this decade. VW and its Chinese partners are "prepared to spend as much as $27 billion US in the next five years" to achieve that goal.
- Nissan wants you to know that it's no Johnny-come-lately to the world of electric vehicles, noting recently that its 1947 Rama EV was a direct result of Japan's then-recent war-time loss and the Allied Forces' efforts to limit gasoline supplies to the country.

Cool it, we're getting to the important part.

Engines play big role in vehicle climate control

drive@metronews.ca

Your car's climate system seems simple enough: turn it up for more warmth, turn it down to stay cool. But as you might expect, what's behind it is much more complicated.

"The heating system uses a heat source that warms up a liquid, and there's a fan that pours the heat into the cabin," says Hayato Mori, senior manager of product planning and business development for Honda Canada.

In most cars, that source is the engine, which gets so hot it has to be cooled down, usually to around 95 Celsius. Coolant, a mix of anti-freeze and water, is pumped into the engine to absorb the heat. It then flows into the radiator, where it cools down before recirculating into the engine again.

But on its travels, coolant also flows into the heater core, which looks like a miniature rad and is located deep in the dash. When you turn on the heater, a fan blows across the hot heater core, sending this warmed air into the cabin.

A temperature blend door, controlled by a thermostat, opens or closes to direct more or less heat into the cabin as needed. If full heat isn't required, another door opens to vent the excess outside.

Air conditioning is even more complex. It's a closed system filled with a gas, called Freon, that flows

How it works

- Most cars use engine heat to warm the cabin, but battery-powered cars and some hybrids use electric heaters.
- Heater core repairs are expensive, because the dash must be taken apart. Flush the cooling system as recommended to prevent clogging.
- The heater fan is properly called a blower, and looks like a hamster wheel.

through and is alternately subjected to high and low pressure.

This changes it to a very cold liquid. It flows into the evaporator, a component that's basically the cold equivalent of the heater core, where a fan blows over it to send cool air into the cabin. The Freon then becomes a gas again, and the process starts all over.

In hot weather, you'll often see water dripping under your car. It's condensation from the cold air-conditioning components, and nothing to worry about. But get your vehicle checked if you see coloured liquid — usually green or yellow — which means you're losing coolant.

"There's a lot of plumbing involved, and a tiny hole anywhere will bring down the whole system, so it's important to get this checked according to the vehicle's maintenance schedule," Mori says.

An air conditioning leak will simply leave you sweating in hot weather, but a coolant leak could lead to overheating and potential engine damage.

Get it checked

"There's a lot of plumbing involved, and a tiny hole anywhere will bring down the whole system."

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

You can't control your destiny every minute of every day, so let fate take its course. Unsettling things may happen over the next few days, but that doesn't mean they'll be bad for you.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

Even if you're the kind of Taurus who keeps your emotions under control you will be much more outgoing than usual today. There are so many good things going on in your life that you've got to tell the world.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

Be considerate of others' feelings and there is no limit to what you might achieve. You need to realize that everyone has a different destiny to fulfill.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

Drop your Cancerian guard and open up. An excellent link between Venus, planet of harmony, and Jupiter in your sign indicates you will meet remarkable people over the next 24 hours. Be sociable.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

Everything is going so well for you that you are even prepared to forget long-running feuds with colleagues and relatives. Make the most of it as it's unlikely to last, but while it does you'll feel great.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

Socially and romantically this is one of the best times of the year for you, so don't let anyone burst the bubble of optimism that surrounds you. Your positive attitude will attract like-minded people.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

Be generous with your time and money. Don't give away all your worldly goods but the planets indicate that if you show kindness to someone in need now the favour will be returned many times over.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

Even if you are the sort of Scorpio who likes to stick with tried and tested methods try to be more adventurous over the next 24 hours. Take a chance on love too. A new attraction could sweep you off your feet.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

The best way to avoid an unpleasant situation is to pretend it does not exist. You are not in the mood for confrontation and there is no cosmic law that says you have to face situations or people.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

A Venus-Jupiter link is about as good an influence as you could hope for, especially where your love life is concerned. One person you meet today could become more than just a friend.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

If you feel you are not being appreciated enough in your current job then start making plans. Could you be making more of your talents elsewhere? Be open to new possibilities.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

Someone you meet on your travels today or tomorrow is destined to play a role in your life over the next few months. Don't be too defensive when meeting people. SALLY BROMPTON
